

Legal Trademark for IASI

The International Association of Structural Integration® is a registered trademark. The trademark distinguishes IASI as an International Membership Organization that is devoted to developing and protecting the lineage and vision of Dr. Ida Rolf's work.

The trademark status is another completed step towards helping to ensure Professional identity to the public. It is very important that we maintain this vital mark by using it properly in any published material.

To help IASI uphold and retain this important mark, be sure to use the ® mark after the name; International Association of Structural Integration® any time you use our name on websites, business cards, brochures and other professional materials. The symbol can be created simply by using the numeric keypad on your keyboard. Hold down the Alt key, and type the four-digit code: 0174 and release the Alt key. This will create the special character.

The consistent use of the mark will help IASI protect the trademark status. For additional information about proper mark usage, go to <http://www.uspto.gov>
